

Dear Parents,

This half term our topic allows us to make links to our own local area of the world. Using fieldwork skills the children explore the bridges and mega structures along the quayside. Back in class, they then learn about other mega structures and wonders around the world, using this as a vehicle for Geography, History, Art and DT skills.

Mrs Chapman

Our recommended read:

This half term 'Wonders of the world: an interactive tour of Marvels and Monuments' will be available at the library or in school for you to borrow and share at home.

What skills might an architect need to design a building?

How do STEM skills help bridges be built?

What wonders of the world would you like to visit?

What mega structures have been created in modern day?

What monuments are still standing from ancient times?

Autumn 2

Things to remember:

Monday - Spelling test
Tuesday - PE day
Wednesday - KS2 swimming
Thursday - Reading books changed
Friday - Library
Tuesday 4th Nov Hancock and Quayside visit

The Sage

This prominent music venue is an iconic building designed by the British architect Norman Foster, and opened in 2004

The Baltic

This contemporary art gallery is housed in a converted flour mill and designed by Ellis Williams Architects in 2002. It was originally built in 1930s and used by Rank Hovis.

Bessie Surgees

This is one of the last Tudor buildings in the Newcastle area owned by English Heritage. The two houses were built in the 1500s for merchants.

Useful words

ancient – something that has existed for a very long time.

architect – a person who designs building and advises in their construction

awe – to have an overwhelming feeling of admiration bridge – a structure carrying a road, path, rail or person across a river heritage – something that is or may be inherited modern – it is in the present or recent time monument – something erected in memory of a person or event

structure – A building or other object constructed of many parts wonder – something beautiful or exceptional that gives us a feeling of surprise or admiration